GUEST COMMENTS:

"...from the moment we paddled away from Tofino, we knew we were in for a treat...our 6 days in majestic Clayoquot Sound will forever be one of the most special times in my life. Your ability to make a group of complete strangers feel welcome, safe, comfortable and into old friends within days was magic. Your culinary skills were outstanding...a fresh crab and swiss cheese omelette for breakfast...with a mango fruit salad!...I thought camping was "roughing it"...to say you "blew us away" is an understatement! I want to be back on our timeless beach right now! Delia van Thoeval, Fort Meyers, FL.

YOUR VACATION AWAITS...

Our Clayoquot Sound Tours embark from gorgeous Tofino on Vancouver Island, B.C.

DAY #1:

All participants meet at the lawn/ beach to the left of the Government wharf (the end of first street next to the Tofino Air office) at 9:00 am. Here the guides will assign you to a kayak and help you get your personal gear stowed away. When everyone is ready, we'll go over some basic paddling fundamentals and a safety orientation and then launch into the waters of Tofino Harbour. With helpful advice and instruction from your guides, it won't take long till you feel you're getting the "hang of it" as we paddle through a variety of islands, making our way into the heart of Clayoquot Sound. These waters are home to inquisitive river otters, and it is not uncommon for us to encounter these playful mammals within the first few hours of our day. After a couple of hours, we'll land on one of the beaches and you can sit back and enjoy a delicious lunch the guides will prepare. After lunch we'll launch the kayaks back into the Pacific waters and make our way along the coastline of Vargas Island. Within a couple of hours, we should be arriving on one of the beaches on the outer coast where we'll make our camp. After setting up tents and camp, you are free to explore the beaches, trails, relax with a book or perhaps join one of the guides fishing (great salmon in these waters). A sumptuous dinner around a cozy campfire with a canopy of stars above is the evenings entertainment.

DAY #2, #3, #4 and #5:

Clayoquot Sound boasts some of the finest paddling on the West Coast of Vancouver Island. Vast sand strewn beaches, ancient sitka and cedar rainforests and the thrill of the west coast and it's treasure-rich tidal waters offer us innumerable chances to touch the face of nature. After a delicious breakfast, we'll pack up the kayaks for our days paddling and launch into the majesty of Clayoquot Sound. We'll spend the following days paddling these pristine waters, ever in the hopes of spying some grey whales, that are present in these waters during our summer months. Porpoise and Stellar sea lions are also quite common in the waters of Clayoquot Sound. As well as the marine mammals, a foraging black bear or some timid deer may be seen along the coastline and we have been fortunate to see wolves on some of the islands. Camping on deserted beaches and exploring the splendor of this enchanting area, a fantastic time awaits.

DAY #5:

We'll wake to the aroma's of coffee, cooked breakfast and the sounds of the lapping waves . Another gorgeous day in Clayoquot Sound awaits us. After breakfast, we'll break camp and load up all the kayaks with our gear..."this stuff should all fit, shouldn't it?". We'll take either an outside coastal route along the outside of Vargas Island or we may opt for the inside passage. With the tides in our favour and sunshine and warm breezes on our faces, we should arrive on another gorgeous beach where we'll make camp for our final night.

DAY #6:

After another of our great breakfasts, we'll load the kayaks for the final time and bid majestic Clayoquot Sound adieu. We'll make our way back across Father Charles Channel along the coast of Stubbs and Felice Islands. After a pleasant mornings paddle, we should arrive back at our embarkation point of Tofino between noon and 1:00pm.
